HONORED LEE'S MEMORY

Confederate Vets Observed the General's Birthday Anniversary.

WITH FEASTING AND SONG

Id Heroes of the Lost Cause Held a Veritable Love Feast in Masonic Temple Last Night—Eloquent Speeches Were Made by Distinguished and Patriotic Men.

Many old soldiers who had served under Gen. Robert E. Lee, were stirred to enthusiasm last night at the eighty-ninth anniversary of the birthday of the Confederate chieftain in the Masonic Temple by the eloquent tributes paid to the famous Virginian.

Under the auspices of the Confederate Veteran Association of this city a big audience gathered to take part in the ceremonies.

Over the front of the stage the banner of the association, bearing the stars and stripes, was suspended with the stars and stripes. Old men with whitened hair, who had followed the flag of the South from Manassas to Appomattox, were thickly scattered through the audience. During a touching reference to the Confederate commander's farewell to his comrades of the Southern army one venerable man wept. The wives, daughters, and even the grandchildren of the old soldiers formed a large proportion of the gathering.

The celebration was divided into two parts—first, an address by Col. Charles Marshall, and then a banquet, at which spoke United States Senators Daniel, Bates, Berry, and other noted men.

WILD ENTUSIASM.

There was a scene of enthusiasm when Capt. J. W. Drew of the association, with Col. Marshall on his arm, led the procession of distinguished guests up the aisle of the hall and to the platform. The band in the gallery broke forth with "Dixie," women waved their handkerchiefs, and men jumped to their feet and cheered.

There were even some yells from a bunch of excited men as Daniel moved along at the head of the long line of old officers. It was a body of splendid looking men who filled the platform. In one group sat United States Senator Berry, who lost a leg in the civil war, Gen. Joe Wheeler, with an empty sleeve, and Congressman Walker of Virginia, the last commander of the old Stonewall brigade. Then there was the dashing Gen. Harry Heth of the Old Dominion.

Dr. W. R. Wright, Tennessee, two widely known Virginians, Gen. Payne and Lomax, United States Senator Bates, Gen. W. R. Cox, secretary of the United States Senate, Rep. Dr. McKim of this city, Col. Smoot of Alexandria, Capt. George H. Ingraham of Charleston, S. C., On the platform there also were Major Hugh Woodell, Major R. J. Hunter, Dr. W. F. Young, Major J. D. Barlen and Friends Leigh Robinson of the committee of reception, and Magnus S. Thompson, vice-president of the local camp.

President Barlen of the association, was absent on account of sickness, and the handsome Gen. Holmes Conrad presided. Dr. McKim delivered an eloquent invocation in which he gave thanks for the man whom they honored as a hero to duty and faith.

Rev. Dr. McKim, with effective voice then read the farewell lines of Lee to his army at Appomattox, and at the finish the band played the "Bonnie Blue Flag."

As Col. Marshall closed the band played "Maryland, My Maryland." Then there were cries for Daniel, but the march was taken up to the banquet hall. Gen. Conrad was toastmaster. At the tables were 250 men and women. Senator Daniel made the principal address in response to the toast, "The Army of Northern Virginia."

"The army of the rank and file of the army of Northern Virginia," said the eloquent Virginian, "find their glory forged in the cause they served. There is no glory in their life, or career which they cherish more; none that they would exchange for any gift of glory, than for the fact that they were the followers of Robert E. Lee in the army of Northern Virginia."

"That army was born and died in battle. It began its career upon the memorable plain of Manassas. Although out-generaled, flanked, surrounded, the army of Northern Virginia showed that its men were not surpassed for that English, Southern, American, and its bloodiest battle."

"As the army of Northern Virginia fought the first battle of the year so it fought the bloodiest battle, September 17, 1862, was the bloodiest day in the history of that conflict. Just 32,000 sustained the charges of McClellan with 87,000 at his back."

As the army of Northern Virginia fought the bloodiest battle so it fought the greatest battle of the war, Gettysburg. As it fought in the greatest battle, so it fought the longest. There is no precedent for that battle, which began May 3, 1864. When Grant crossed the Rapidan the army of Northern Virginia sprang at him. Until April 9, 1865, almost one year, the air resounded with the crack of musketry and the thunder of cannon.

As it had fought the first, the bloodiest, the greatest, the longest, so it fought the battle of the war. The army of Northern Virginia, my countrymen, was born and died in victory, as far as it was within human power to make victory.

Senator Bates responded for "The Army of the Tennessee," and the gallant Senator Berry spoke for the "Army of Trans-Mississippi."

Congressman J. C. C. Black, of Georgia, responded to the toast, "The Private Soldier."

Hon. Leigh Robinson, of the old Richmond Howitzers, talked for "The Artillery," and that splendid trooper, General Wheeler, answered for "The Cavalry," while General Cox gave praise to "The Infantry."

Hon. George Farrow, with good old North Carolina gallantry, paid tribute to "The Women of the South," and Captain Morgan was the respondent for "The Navy." The night with impressive silence the gathering stood and drank to "The Confederate Dead."

BLOW AT FOUNTAIN HEAD

Organized Labor Must Not Sign License Applications.

General Order Issued as a Result of the Trouble with the Brewers.

As indicated in The Evening Times of yesterday, the war between the brewers' combine and Gumbrium Assembly is on, and will be fought to a finish.

Since the trouble started two weeks ago both parties have been reinforced, and now the battle will be fought between the brewers' combine and its allies on the one side and the united forces of organized labor in the District on the other.

Here is a copy of the special order since sent out to every member of the order of the Knights of Labor in the District:

"To the members of the order of the Knights of Labor in the District, greeting. You are hereby ordered to refuse to sign any and all applications for liquor licenses in the District of Columbia until further orders."

"Signed, W. H. G. SIMMONS, Master Workman D. A. 66, K. of L." "It is not proposed at this time," said Mr. Simmons, "to attack the licenses already issued, but a close watch will be kept on those hung up by the excise board and on all new applications. That the members of the order of the Knights of Labor in the District are material factors in the obtaining of all liquor licenses there can be no doubt, and the result of this order will be immediately felt."

It is also a well known fact, he said, that the Sunday liquor law is continually being violated, and it may be possible, and, in fact, highly probable, that a close watch will be kept on these violators.

It would not be understood, said Mr. Simmons, as meaning that members of organized labor have any complaint to make against the local liquor dealers, but our own interests are at stake, and we are going to leave nothing undone which will strengthen our position and guard our rights.

Mr. Thos. F. Bectold, secretary of the National Brewers' Association, arrived in the city yesterday, and had a long conference with Master Workman Simmons, as to the best course to be pursued. The perfect plans would not be divulged last night, and it is highly probable that no further action will be taken until after the meeting of the Federation of Retail Liquor Dealers, which will be held tomorrow.

A meeting of Gumbrium Assembly will be held today. Mr. Bectold will be present and make an address, in which he will discuss the situation from the "national" standpoint.

HERBERT ON THE STAND.

Investigating Charges Made in the Chandler Resolution.

The Senate Committee on Naval Affairs was in secret session yesterday for a little more than three hours on the investigation suggested by the Chandler resolution relative to the question of excessive charges for armor plate, the connection of certain naval officers in the patents granted for processes used by the Navy Department and other matters cited in Mr. Chandler's resolution.

Secretary Herbert was before the committee for two hours, but nothing was developed going to show that there had been any dereliction of duty. No new armor contracts have been entered into during the present administration.

Another special meeting will be held next Saturday, at which time Commodore Folger will be a witness. Lieut. Ackerman, who is now stationed on the Pacific coast, will not be called home for the purpose of appearing before the committee.

The hearing today was behind closed doors, but the testimony and the findings of the committee will ultimately be made public.

CHAPMAN FOUND GUILTY.

His Counsel Has Made a Motion for a New Trial.

The jury in the case of Elbert R. Chapman, the New York stock broker, under indictment for refusing to answer the questions of the Senate Sugar Trust Investigating Committee, which retired at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon with instructions from Judge Cole tantamount to directing a verdict of guilty, returned to the court room about noon yesterday and put the following question to the judge:

"Is the admission by the defendant that the questions set forth in the indictment were substantially the same as put to him by the committee equivalent to an admission that they were the same, and can the jury act upon the hypothesis?"

"I reply in the affirmative," said Judge Cole.

The jury again retired and in five minutes reported agreement upon the verdict of guilty. The counsel for the defense immediately made motions for a new trial and for an arrest of judgment.
